Ladies and Gentlemen;

I am pleased to welcome you to the last Cabinet meeting of the 2017 Calendar Year. It has been a challenging year, but together, we have risen to the occasion, we have remained steadfast in our commitment to achieving our objectives, and as we close off 2017 and prepare to take a well-deserved rest, we can do so with the conviction that we continue to stay on course in terms of implementing Namibia's development agenda.

At the opening of the first Cabinet meeting of 2017, I stated that, "we have a responsibility not to fail our people so we should simply deliver, embracing the ethos of hard work ..." I believe that we have lived up to this clarion call and delivered to the best of our ability.

Evidence of the work ethic we have embraced is reflected by 21 deliberative meetings and 21 decision making meetings which Cabinet has held since February 2017. This totals to 42 Cabinet meetings, resulting in 240 Cabinet Decisions, issued to respective Offices/Ministries/Agencies for implementation. At this juncture I would like to call on all Cabinet Ministers to ensure that respective Ministries expedite the implementation of these Cabinet Decisions, if not already done.

Our ability to work in unison, driven by the common purpose of developing our Namibian House, has been the driving force behind the successes we have achieved during the Cabinet sessions of 2017.

Due to the hard work by the various Cabinet committees, who have applied their respective expertise, to provide much needed insight to aid the process of policy formulation, Cabinet has deliberated on several policy initiatives during the course of the year.

The Cabinet Handbook is explicit in its description of the responsibility which Cabinet holds in terms policy making, stating the following, "Success in administering and executing the functions of the government depends very much on the effort that goes into the formulation of policy and implementation mechanisms. In this context therefore success or failure depends on the work of the Cabinet and the support staff within the administration”

Policy making is therefore an integral tool in terms of strengthening our Governance, Macro- Economic and Socio-Economic architectures. I have stated the importance of improving the efficiency of our processes, systems and institutions as well as the need to increase transparency and accountability in Government, since these two variables connote trust.

With these thoughts in mind, I would now like to highlight some of the major policy initiatives considered and adopted by Cabinet during the period (February – December 2017).

Through your laudable endeavours, you have given further credence to the Harambee spirit.

As the SWAPO Party Government, we have made a promise to the Namibian people through our Manifesto and our promise is clear; to deliver prosperity by improving the quality of life of all Namibians. On the evidence provided by this year's Cabinet meetings, I am confident that we have not wavered on this promise.

Like any noble cause, challenges and obstacles will always litter the path to success, but together, we have what it takes to persevere, overcome and succeed. As the saying goes, "We are not defined by our challenges but lifted up by them.” As we prepare to draw the curtain on 2017, I encourage all of you to ponder this statement. Don’t be defined by the challenges you face but be lifted up by them. The SWAPO Party Government will not be defined by the challenges it faces but it will be lifted up by them.

As I conclude my statement for this last Cabinet meeting of the year, let me wish all of you a peaceful and joyful festive season. May you all travel and arrive safe at you respective destinations. Get some good rest, because next year is the year of “RECKONING” I wish you all, a merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Thank you.
